The last year was a turning point in the modern history of Ukraine: each of us ganged up against corrupt regime and we managed to win. We got a chance to build a new country having paid too dear a price for it and continue to pay. The challenges which each institution and personality have faced during the Revolution of Dignity convey the hope for renewal. Ukraine has finally gotten the legislation for effective anti-corruption reform. The best experts united to prepare the reforms, the most active civic organizations bent every effort to make the government to adopt those reforms. But corrupt system cannot be destroyed overnight. It will resist, counteract, disguise, bribe new people and try to survive using all known ways.

So the Revolution of Dignity is not over. Here and now we see its new and complicated period. Firstly we chanced the authorities, now we have change ourselves. Each of us shall become a controller of the authorities and a bearer of new social spirit. Intolerance to corruption in our life shall be as high as possible. Attention to public information: officials’ declarations, open registers, procedures for establishment of new anti-corruption bodies, municipal treasury allocation shall be constant. The most important thing for us is to be unflappable, unite like-minded people, make Anti-Corruption Bureau is elected and the National Agency for Prevention of Corruption is established. Transparency International Ukraine has high hopes for the newly established bodies and urges the authorities not to weaken the political will and first of all clear judicial, law enforcement and administrative systems out of corruption.

For our part we continue to work in three sphere: mobilize citizens to fight corruption and support them (particularly, we start a massive campaign in protection of whistleblowers, provide online consultations and develop legal instructions for corruption counteraction); provide assistance for the government in implementation of the necessary anti-corruption reforms (we are helping to prepare the anti-corruption program for the state); control the authorities (we continue the audit of the public servants’ declarations, monitor the implementation of the anti-corruption legislation). If you want to be engaged in the anti-corruption movement, you are welcome.

Go-ahead times come. And these changes can be achieved by us.

Social request to corruption fighting activated at the end of 2013 and resulted in Euromaidan. During the Revolution of Dignity Transparency International Ukraine team worked in two directions:

DOMESTIC DIRECTION
Developing anti-corruption reforms for the new authorities.

Civic experts united in Reanimation Package of Reforms community and started developing the necessary reforms for Ukraine. TI Ukraine experts were involved in moderation of the anti-corruption experts block, who together had developed the Anti-Corruption Strategy for Ukraine 2014-2017, laws on the National Anti-Corruption Bureau, on ultimate beneficiaries of companies and business, on corruption prevention and conflict of interests regulation. All these laws were adopted on October 14, 2014.

EXTERNAL DIRECTION
From February 20 (mass execution day) the team of Transparency International Ukraine started issuing the bulletin "Ukrainian Revolution against Corruption" dispelling the myths on Euromaidan, providing objective and checked information on the course of the events, later highlighting the reforms.

FREQUENCY: 2 times per week
TOTAL ISSUES: 10
ADDRESSEES: upward of 200 (all TI chapters in the world, international media, PACE, GRECO, Venice Commission, CODEXTER, Moneyval, Council of Europe etc.).

You can find all issues of the bulletins here.
In addition during the year Ukrainian TI chapter informed the world community on the results of the Revolution of Dignity in the sphere of corruption.

Transparency International Ukraine acknowledges the importance of volunteer work for civil society development and for attraction of the public attention to the problem of corruption in Ukraine. TI Ukraine aims to make the volunteer work an element of personal development, self-fulfilment, knowledge and skills acquiring by stimulation of creativity and leadership, and providing people with the opportunity to bring in new ideas and experience.

We have a long tradition of hiring TI employees via the internship program. 2014 wasn’t an exception: TI Ukraine’s staff received the support of over 20 interns who performed different tasks, starting from anti-corruption research to translations and preparation of analytical articles. 2014 interns made a huge contribution in the organization’s activity, which equalled the work of at least 2 full-time employees. Volunteers and interns constitute an indispensable part of TI Ukraine’s team.

We are sincerely grateful to the volunteers who worked with us in 2014: Khrystyna Kvartsiana, Marharyta Horlo, Karina Hordiienko, Yana Kaminska, Mike Runey, Joniel Cha, Oleksandr Chornyj, Sarah Kim, Roman Baiduk, Yeva Ahaian, Bohdan Bernatskyi.

TI Ukraine’s experience in 2014 also proved that people who participated in the internship program for 3 months to one year became more hard-working employees than those who were hired by competition. Former interns transform into professionals.

Effective State Anti-Corruption Policy

Development, Advocacy and Adoption of Anti-Corruption Set of Laws

Changes That We Made

Due to cooperative efforts of the expert anti-corruption community Ukraine has got the laws for initiation of an effective anti-corruption reform. On October 14, 2014 the Parliament voted for the approved by the Government anti-corruption laws, which were drafted by civil society experts. The documents are the following: “On Prevention and Counteraction to Legalization (Laundering) of Proceeds from Crime and Terrorism Financing”, “On the Principles of State Anti-Corruption Policy in Ukraine (the Anti-Corruption Strategy) for 2014 – 2017”, “On the National Anti-Corruption Bureau of Ukraine”, “On Amendments to Certain Legislative Acts of Ukraine Regarding the Definition of Ultimate Beneficial Owners of Legal Entities and Public Persons”.

Also the special law “On Prosecutor’s Office” was adopted, which cancelled prosecutors’ supervision functions.

Our Actions

TI Ukraine with the group of anti-corruption experts, who act in the framework of public initiative Reanimation Package of Reforms and in close coordination with the specialized authorities (particularly with the Ministry of Justice of Ukraine) developed the conception of anti-corruption reform, prepared the projects of regulatory acts necessary for its initiation, and advocated the adoption of five anti-corruption laws.

Besides, to stimulate the political will to the implementation of reforms, TI Ukraine acted in several directions:

1) public education on the new laws

2) conducting independent assessments and researches of the state anti-corruption policy and the national integrity system

3) creation of an effective platform between the Government and expert sphere;

4) advocacy campaigns to influence on the authorities for purpose of adopting the laws.
To provide the active public request for implementing the reform, TI Ukraine made a communicative accomplishment of the new draft laws. For this purpose, five regional discussions and press-conferences in the following cities were held: Kharkiv, Vinnytsia, Lviv, Dnipropetrovsk, Ivano-Frankivsk. Experts with the help of infographics and video explained to the citizens how the new laws would work, answered a number of activists’ questions. Besides, on December 9, 2014 on the International Anti-Corruption Day TI Ukraine presented the Day of Whistleblower, launching a large information and human rights campaign for the protection of rights of corruption whistleblowers according to the new legislation.

Business environment, which actively started to come out against corruption, having announced its zero tolerance, involving the European business association, American Chamber of Commerce, the British Embassy in Ukraine and with the Minister of Economic Development and Trade, and the Deputy Minister of Justice discussed the possibilities of fighting corruption, which are revealed in the Anti-Corruption Strategy for 2014-17. Roderick Makkoli, a leading specialist in the sphere of anti-corruption laws development and implementation in the UK Ministry of Justice, and Grem Konlon, a representative of the CMS Cameron McKenna international law firm presented the law “On Bribery”, which has been in force since 2010. This law is directed at improvement of anti-corruption environment for business, introduces equal conditions for all the participants of market and helps to adjust the international trade to common standards. This led to the widespread cooperation between civil society, business and authority in the sphere of fighting corruption, transparency and accountability of the private sector, and development of mechanisms of preventing bribery in business. Business declared determination to set up and meet European standards, and the authority expressed readiness to assist.

For anti-corruption reform not to ignore the experience and groundwork of the state in the sphere of fighting corruption for the last 5 years, the experts of Transparency International Ukraine made a complex assessment of the National Integrity System of Ukraine 2014, where the capacity of 13 key Ukrainian institutions and departments to fight efficiently with the corruption in the country was assessed. Taking into account the recommendations, civil society and authority experts developed the list of amendments to the project of the State Anti-Corruption Program of Ukraine for 2015-2017, prepared by the professionals of the Ministry of Justice of Ukraine and the representatives of Reanimation Package of Reforms.

Furthermore, under the editorship of TI Ukraine, the group of Ukrainian experts prepared a project concerning the anti-corruption and integrity of public service, prepared a detailed alternative study based on recognition of recommendations by Ukraine in the Scope of the Third Monitoring Round by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). This study was introduced in April 2014 in the headquarters of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development, during the reception of delegations of the member countries of Istanbul Anti-Corruption Action Plan (OECD). The study was oriented at the Ukrainian authorities and specialized organizations, which need advanced analytics in particular aspects of the state anti-corruption policy. It is the recommendations of this analytical document that formed the basis for the further anti-corruption reform.

One more tool of comprehensive quality assessment of the state anti-corruption policy, intended to become “The Alternative Report on Assessment of the State Anti-Corruption Policy Implementation Efficiency”, the work on which is still being continued. The unique methodology, developed by the team of TI Ukraine experts and other organizations will allow carrying out an annual assessment of the real state of corruption in Ukraine. The methodology allows not only stating the real situation, but forming a set of the essential changes throughout all the components of anti-corruption policy. For the purpose of establishing an effective coordination of collaborative work of civil society experts and representatives of authority in development and promoting the reforms in April 2014, the Reforms Support Center at the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine was organized. The idea of creating such a platform appeared from the International Renaissance Foundation and the Secretariat of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine. Transparency International Ukraine and Ukrainian Center for Independent Political Research became the initiators of the Reforms Support Center.

During the split year of the activity, the Reforms Support Center received from the civil society about 40 proposals concerning the amendments and reforms, which were developed by coordinators of the RSC. More than 20 analytical civil society organizations and two platforms of the civil society experts united more than 300 experts, specialists, and activists of different branches. In addition, more than 20 donor organizations and technical assistance programs were involved in the communication for the reforms development. The civil society experts were involved in the 15 sessions of the government committees of different directions and the government sessions etc. Except the assistance in passing anti-corruption laws, the platform initiated the adoption of several decrees and resolutions of the government, (the Decree of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine No. 514 as of 5 March 2014 “Some Issues of Conducting Conversion of Radio Frequency Resource of Ukraine in the Radio Frequency Bands of the Common Use”) the Resolution of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine, (“On Approving Terms and Conditions of the Tender for the Assignment of Licenses on the Use of Radio Frequency Resource of Ukraine for the implementation of Radio Technology “Digital cellular radio communication IMT-2000 (UMTS)” and also the Resolution 902-p of 1 October 2014 “On the National Energy Action Plan for the Period to 2020”. Furthermore, upon an initiative by the coordinative center, the adoption of the Decree of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine, “On the Procedure of Sale of Material Evidences in the Criminal Case, Keeping of which by the Defendant Party is Impossible without Unnecessary Difficulties Because of unhandiness”, was made due to a number of considerable corruptogenic factors.

Without constant public pressure on the authority, even the best expert projects and draft laws could remain only on paper. In the partnership with the most active anti-corruption organizations (Anti-Corruption Action Center, CHESNO Civil Movement, Reanimation Package of Reforms Anti-Corruption Group), TI Ukraine ran an advocacy campaign, which included not only publications and analytical columns in media, but also actions of direct influence under the Parliament, which made a splash among the media representatives. In particular, on October 7, during the extraordinary session of the Parliament, dedicated to the consideration of the anti-corruption laws set, civil society activists stayed under the Verkhovna Rada #TOMATOBUCKETCHALLENGE. More than 200 kilos of rotten tomatoes were prepared for the corrupt MPs who did not vote for the anti-corruption laws. Anyone could throw a tomato to the photo of a MP. The Anti-Corruption Action Center, in cooperation with Transparency International Ukraine and Reanimation Package of Reforms, invited the active citizens to join in and “hit a corrupt MP with a rotten tomato” and together demand from the MPs to adopt the anti-corruption laws. The activities continued through October 14th, and due to the pressure from the civil society in regards to the second reading, the whole set of anti-corruption laws were adopted.

Changes That We Made

Starting from March 2014 every Ukrainian citizen can track any public procurement on the web portal tender.me.gov.ua from its beginning to announcement of the results of the procurement agreement implementation. Procurement requestors (public bodies and state enterprises) are obliged to publicize any changes in contracts (price, specification etc.). All enterprises under the state control are obliged to make the key information on procurement for their own money public. The access to information on tenders of state monopolies has been widened largely.

Civic activists and journalists have the right to visit tender committee meetings when they open up tender bids.

It is forbidden for the companies that are related to tender committee members to participate in bids.

Besides, bidders that participated in tender fix-ups get deprived of the right to participate in public bids for 3 years.

The number of exceptions from the tender legislation has been shortened three times.

Our Actions

A couple of weeks after the victory of the Revolution of Dignity the new Minister of Economy initiated the working group on drafting the new version of the law on public procurement. This version aimed to fulfil all demands that civil society and international organizations had been putting forward to the authorities of Yanukovych regime.

The group included leading civic and international experts, including Transparency International Ukraine. The new version has been drafted within a short period. TI Ukraine and partners have extended all their efforts for its adoption by the former Verkhovna Rada.

In fact, this law became the first anti-corruption one after the Revolution of Dignity.

The Officials’ Lifestyle Monitor “Declaration Without Decorations” as the First Step to the Legislative Settlement of Conflicts of Interests.

Changes That We Made

For the first time the state body will monitor the Officials’ lifestyle. From now on, the false data provisioning in the officials’ declaration can be qualified as illegal enrichment and lead to imprisonment for 2 years. The Officials’ declaration will be gathered in the State Register. The National Anti-Corruption Bureau, established under the Law on Corruption Prevention as of March 14, 2014, will control the Officials’. According to the 5th Chapter of this law the conflict of interests has the clear-cut regulation norms and will be discussed again. These changes became feasible with the law on Corruption Prevention adoption (elaborated by the public) and with the precedent made by Transparency International Ukraine conducted in 2013-2014 the national campaign “Declaration without Decoration” on monitoring the officials’ lifestyle. TI Ukraine was the first to conduct the transparent electronic database of the officials and checked them on their own methodology.

Our Actions

In summer 2013 The Transparency International Ukraine and more than 40 public organizations, journalistic agencies and private investigators from whole country launched the national lifestyle monitoring campaign of officials “Declarations and Decoration”. In total 79 state bodies and local governments have been monitored and an electronic database of declarations “405 officials of Ukraine” anticorruption.in-ua was made. Four ministries refused to provide the public controllers with the declaration data. In cooperation with the Media Law Institute, TI Ukraine sued the ministers and gained a suit at law: The Ministry of Internal Affairs of Ukraine, The Ministry of Healthcare of Ukraine, The Ministry of Energy and Coal Mining of Ukraine, and The Ministry of Ecology and Natural Resources of Ukraine.

According to the results of the campaign “Declarations without Decorations”, 69 corruptionists and their lifestyles, exceeding the official income 20, 30, or 150 times, was exposed. It became true with the legislative regulation miss, which could regulate the conflict of interests (contradiction between the personal interest and duty or representative proxy).

The Anti-corruption group in cooperation with the public initiative The Reanimation Bulletin: TI Ukraine, the Anticorruption Action Centre, the Politic Studies and Analytics Centre, Centre for Policy of Legal Reforms through experts of The Ministry of Justice of Ukraine and the Committee on Fighting Organized Crime and Corruption made legislation on crime prevention, which became known as the law on Corruption Prevention.

With the issue of advocacy, TI Ukraine made a public discussion on accessibility and trustworthiness of officials’ declarations. To maintain the topical issue, the media-campaign “The Transparency Test for the Kyiv Government” was conducted. During this campaign, the electorate addressed the declaration requests to the candidates. Among 19 candidates for the position of Mayor of Kyiv, only 7 gave their state declarations to the people. Among 35 parties, only one has gone public with the declarations of its candidates for the Kyiv City Council. Beforehand the Parliamentary polls the TI Ukraine announced its the media-hunting, “Corruption Lists Down from the Parties Ones” and encouraged the journalists and activists to send valid and checked information about the corrupt candidates. During the month, enough data was conducted to claim that every 10th candidate for Verhovna Rada was suspected in the corrupt misdeeds. In the week leading up to the elections, TI Ukraine published the “suspect” list, demanding that corrupt candidates be expelled.

Changes That We Made

TI Ukraine and the partners have managed to attract civil society and government’s interest to the importance of opening up the financing of political parties; the process of legislation amendment is now under way. The amendment would reduce the dependence of political parties from private capital (oligarchs), transforming political parties into defenders of public interest.

Our Actions

In August-September 2014 Transparency International and IFES-Ukraine Ukraine worked out a comprehensive concept of changes to legislation governing the financing of political parties and election campaign. If these ideas are implemented into the legal framework, it will reduce political corruption in Ukraine and bring the relevant legislation in line with international anti-corruption standards. Since 2002, the civil society has been lobbying in vain to change the legislation and improve the transparency of party funding and election campaigning. Now, thanks to the commitment of the experts, the appropriate legislation is slated for registration in Parliament in 2015.

While advocating the subject, two analytical articles were published: the Concept of the Changes, Financing Political Parties, and Where is the money of the party? In addition, the issue of amending legislation on transparent funding for political parties, was repeatedly addressed by Transparency International Ukraine appeals and media statements: Parties and elections in Ukraine need financial transparency — Transparency International; Transparency International Ukraine: we have a solution for the Coalition Agreement where the organisation urged the elected authorities and members of coalition to amend the legislation on transparent funding for the political parties.

Promotion of the Initiative “Open Government Partnership” in Ukraine

Changes That We Made

Government 2014-15 action plan for the “Open Government Partnership” initiative included recommendations of the citizens from all over Ukraine. For the first time, NGOs have been registered in the govt. action plan as implementation partners. The approval of the law «On amendments to certain legislative acts of Ukraine concerning the definition of final beneficiaries of legal entities and public figures” means that individuals and legal persons have the right to get information from the State Register of rights on real estate and their legal status. Information obtained exclusively for real estate in question can be obtained through the official website of the State Registration Service or by writing a request to the state authority or notary on rights registration.

Our Actions

TI Ukraine and UNDP conducted a series of regional consultations striving to include all relevant suggestions of the society organisations for the civil society project on Ukraine Action Plan for the 2014-15 “Open Government Partnership” initiative. Such meetings took place in Kherson, Lviv and Dnipropetrovsk. Action Plan discussions were joined by representatives of civil society associations and local authorities from 15 regions of Ukraine: Lviv, Ivano-Frankivsk, Volyn, Khmelnytsky, Ternopil, Rivne, Kherson, Mykolaiv, Kirovohrad, Dnipropetrovsk, Donetsk, Poltava, Luhansk and Zaporizhia. The organisers collected more than 150 proposals for improving.

In order to take into account the Action Plan nuances of updated Ukrainian legislation, Transparency International Ukraine involved relevant experts to develop and conduct “The Open Governance Map” research. Ukrainian researcher, Denis Kovryzhenko, used 127 indicators to analyse the national legislation of Ukraine. The research showed that Ukrainian legislation is 79% compliant to the open governance indicators on transparency, citizen governance, accountability and transparency tools. The research resulted in expert discussion “How to ensure UA Cabinet is the model open governance body?”
The experts established four teams for developing recommendations in the areas of government transparency, public participation, accountability and governance tools. The survey results also formed the basis of civil society recommendations on the 2014-15 Action Plan “Open Government Partnership”.

On June 16th, the “Open Government Partnership initiative: What Action Plan Does Ukraine Need,” was presented to the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine at the round table.

On November 26, the Government approved the 2014-15 Action Plan “Open Government Partnership” with due consideration of all the requirements posed by the civil society. This document defines the Transparency International Ukraine as a partner for several Government actions. Civil society experts will help the authorities set up the supervision of implementation of infrastructure projects, establish internal controls in ministries, and create a single electronic system of property declarations of officials.

Civil society activity of Ukrainian experts was highly appreciated on regional OGP meetings in Ireland and Costa Rica, TI Ukraine presented results of work within the initiative.

TI Ukraine has also provided financial and informational support to the following projects: “Organising and conducting civil society monitoring of quality electronic service of Administrative Service Centre” (six Centres have been monitored - Kyiv, Vinnytsia, Lutsk, Ivano-Frankivsk, Dnipropetrovsk, Kharkiv; the report has been prepared): “Monitoring and analytical support for the Government to provide practical access to the general plans of cities” (54 court hearings, 25 legal documents, 23 consultations to ensure public access to city planning documentation).

Responding to events in the country, TI Ukraine experts developed and distributed the “Displaced Person’s Guide” infographic leaflet. The organisation also distributed 2,000 booklets on open government and corruption prevention.

Information Campaign "Wake up! Corruption Kills"

Changes That We Made

The changes we have made: Reduced the level of corruption tolerance in the society. An information and educational campaign on changing the stereotype that corruption is not a crime was launched. The controversial information campaign, while creating new meanings, urged Ukrainians to perceive corruption as an inappropriate social phenomenon, expressing personal disagreement with its existence. The anti-corruption online hub has transformed into a platform for concerned citizens in search for tools to fight the corruption. Fool-proof step by step legal instructions on countering corruption have been used over 7,000 times a year.

How We Have Done It

How we have done it: TI Ukraine and its partners enlisted the Cheil Ukraine advertising agency and outdoor advertising operators to create, place, and announce the social advertising campaign

“Wake up! Corruption kills” More than 200 billboards in 11 cities of Ukraine informed that “Corruption corrupts”, “Corruption kills”, “Corruption robs”. The campaign also dubbed Ukrainian language on TI network video - “Wake up!” The social video was posted on online channels Hromadske TV, Spilno TV and Espresso TV. The video was broadcasted for free and on their own initiative by cinema networks “Cinema City”, “Multiplex”, as well as by “Pravda Kino” Cinema and by the Kinomedia company. This initiative brings together both civil society and the business sector that has long wanted to join the anti-corruption struggle.

The controversial campaign led to a public discussion regarding impact of the corruption on the lives of people and the options to counter the corruption. Citizens interested in anti-corruption instruments applied to an online hub anticorruption.in.ua where TI Ukraine lawyers upload legal instruction for countering corruption. Over the year the site published 45 step-by-step instructions that have been downloaded 7,263 times. The three most popular instructions were published as infographics and distributed during the TI Ukraine events. To say, a set of anti-corruption practices were presented to students during the annual event “Student Republic”. The site also hosted online consultations of lawyers, who consulted in total about 30 people.

To improve the civil society’s ability to fight corruption, TI Ukraine experts held 2 free webinars “How to fight corruption?” and “How to Control State Procurement*, which attracted more than 60 participants. In 2015, TI plans to keep up the anti-corruption information campaigns that change stereotypes while providing effective tools for anti-corruption fight.
